Question: Is the Boise State University Dead Week Policy being followed? Is this a policy that should be kept in place?
Introduced by: Rebecca Kopp, Speaker of the Assembly
On: October 21, 2015

MAJORITY OPINION

Opinion: In most situations the policy is being followed. The policy should be kept in place with stricter implementation.
Rationale: The students of Boise State University should be given the opportunity to study and review during DEAD WEEK, before finals exams. If the policy is kept in place, then the University must have its faculty and staff abide by its rules and regulations.
